EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The year 2013 was indeed challenging in the field of international counter-terrorism. Southeast Asia was not spared and Malaysia in particular was under the spotlight when in February 2013, approximately 200 militants proclaiming to be the Royal Security Force of the Sultanate of Sulu illegally entered Lahad Datu and subsequently killed ten (10) Malaysian security personnel. This brazen act of defiance and open hostility was however thwarted by our security forces. The incursion was also the catalyst for the formation of the Eastern Sabah Security Zone (ESSZONE) and the Eastern Sabah Security Command (ESSCOM) with the express purpose of strengthening security in the eastern part of Sabah.

It is also significant to note that other developments such as radicalised individuals in the region travelling to Syria and getting involved in militant activities there, as well as homegrown self-radicalised individuals being indoctrinated via the Internet continue to be a source of concern for countries in the region.

While regional terrorist groups such as the Jemaah Islamiyah (JI) have been weakened due to robust counter-terrorism operations, new and relatively small-sized groups, networks and cells have been emerging since 2010. Other active groups (local and transboundary) which continue to pose problems in the region are the New People's Army (NPA) and the Abu Sayyaf Group (ASG) in the Philippines and East Indonesian Mujahideen and Kumpulan Mujahiddin Indonesia in Indonesia.

The terrorists' ability to adapt and evolve to maintain their presence in the region and beyond continues to be a major concern for counter-terrorism officials. The challenge for Malaysia therefore, is to continue to build strong and dynamic counter-terrorism approaches and to never be lulled into complacency. In lieu of that, the Southeast Asia Regional Centre for Counter-Terrorism (SEARCCT), as the country's Centre for capacity building and research on terrorism and counter-terrorism related matters, will continue to train and enhance the capacity and knowledge of Malaysia's and the region's security forces, administrators and policy makers on the subject matter.

Since the establishment of SEARCCT in 2003, the Centre has conducted 129 capacity building programmes attended by 3906 participants from various countries (details are attached as ANNEX A). In 2013 alone, the Centre conducted 17 capacity building programmes attended by 432 participants including 73 foreigners (16.89%). The participants were from various relevant agencies in Malaysia as well as from the ASEAN states and beyond.

In 2013, SEARCCT continued to collaborate with various local and international agencies as well as programmes namely, the Malaysian Prison Department, the Malaysian Technical Cooperation Programme (MTCP), Canada, France, New Zealand and the United Nations' Counter-Terrorism Executive Directorate (CTED). In 2013, SEARCCT for the first time collaborated with the Centre on Global Counter-Terrorism Cooperation (CGCC) to conduct a programme on community policing and countering violent extremism. The year 2013 was also the first time SEARCCT conducted two (2) programmes under the sponsorship of the MTCP.

SEARCCT also published various works on the study of terrorism and counter-terrorism. In 2013, the Centre published a monograph on Jemaah Islamiyah which chronicled the birth and development of JI, particularly in Malaysia. The Centre had also published another volume of 'SEARCCT's Selection of Articles' which compiled works on terrorism and counter-terrorism issues written by experts in the field from around the world while three (3) more articles at the national and international levels are pending publications.

Apart from that, SEARCCT was also involved in conducting public awareness programmes such as the 'SEARCCT's University Lecture Series'. This series of talks was meant to engage local undergraduates, and both to listen and speak into their lives on the dangers of radicalisation. In 2013, SEARCCT delivered such lectures to five (5) universities around Malaysia, reaching approximately 700 undergraduates.

Another public awareness programme conducted by SEARCCT was the 'SEARCCT's Looking Back Lecture Series'. This lecture series looked into Malaysia's role in defeating the terrorist insurgency and also endeavored to relook and re-examine the critical steps that were crafted and executed during those difficult times. In 2013, the Centre invited the founding director of VAT 69, Dato' A. Navaratnam, to give a lecture on the significance of VAT 69 in combating terrorism. Another programme under the banner of SEARCCT's public awareness programme was the 'SEARCCT's Public and Internal Lecture Series'. This was done by engaging with renowned experts from both within and beyond Malaysia in the field of counter-terrorism.

SEARCCT conducted its capacity building programmes, research activities and public awareness programmes based on the Centre's seven (7) flagships; Investigation and Legal Aspects; Chemical, Biological, Radiological, Nuclear and Explosive (CBRNE) and Crisis Management; Aviation, Maritime and Transportation Security; Cyber Terrorism; Prevention and Rehabilitation; Terrorism Financing; and Youth and Terrorism.

This annual report presents a summary of SEARCCT's activities in 2013.

PLANNING & TRAINING DIVISION

ENHANCING PORT
CRYSTAL

PLANNING AND TRAINING DIVISION

The Planning and Training Division is tasked to organise and conduct capacity-building programmes for local and foreign government officials, enforcement and security officials on counter-terrorism issues in collaboration with established think-tank institutions and international organisations. In 2013, the Division conducted 17 capacity-building programmes with a total of 432 participations both at the local and international levels. The full list of SEARCCT's programmes in 2013 is attached as ANNEX B.

1. PREPARATION OF PROGRAMMES

In ensuring that the Centre meets the needs of its clients as well as the local and foreign collaborators, annual coordination meetings are conducted with relevant local agencies as well as foreign and international collaborators in the third or fourth quarter of every year for feedback, comments and suggestions for programmes to be conducted in the following year.

2. BUDGET

SEARCCT has limited facilities and limited resources to run its training programmes. Over the years, SEARCCT had relied very much on external training resources from its foreign and international collaborators particularly in providing the financial resources to invite foreign experts and participants from countries within and beyond the region.

The total training expenditure for 2013 amounted to RM 501,000.00. The Division hopes for a more substantial training budget for the coming years to cater for the increase in the number of training programmes as well as to enhance the quality of the programmes.

3. PARTICIPANTS

In 2013, a total of 432 (359 local and 73 foreign) participants attended the 17 training programmes conducted by the Centre. The foreign participants were from the ASEAN member states i.e. Brunei (7), Cambodia (1), Indonesia (9), Laos (5), Myanmar (4), The Philippines (9), Singapore (4), Thailand (9) and Vietnam (3). The rest of the foreign participants were from countries beyond the ASEAN region such as Bhutan (1), Jordan (1), Kyrgyzstan (2), Mauritius (1), Oman (1), Pakistan (1), Saudi Arabia (1), Sri Lanka (4), Tajikistan (2), Timor Leste (3), Tunisia (1), Uzbekistan (1) and Yemen (3).

4. LOCAL SUPPORT AND COLLABORATORS

In 2013, SEARCCT continued to receive unwavering support from relevant ministries, agencies and private institutions in Malaysia in terms of collaboration and participation.

SEARCCT is highly appreciative of such cooperation and support from local strategic partners, namely the Ministry of Home Affairs, the Ministry of Defence, the Ministry of Health, the National Security Council and the Office of the Chief Government Security Officer of the Prime Minister's Department, the Attorney General Chambers, the Royal Malaysia Police, the Malaysian Armed Forces, the Fire & Rescue Department, the Prison Department, the Immigration Department, the Royal Customs & Excise Department, the Civil Defence Department, the Department of Civil Aviation, the Marine Department, the Malaysian Maritime Enforcement Agency (MMEA), the Chemistry Department, the Atomic Energy Licensing Board (AELB), the Central Bank of Malaysia as well as CyberSecurity Malaysia from the Ministry of Science, Technology & Innovation.

Private agencies had also cooperated in SEARCCT's training programmes in 2013. The agencies included the Port of Tanjung Pelepas (PTP), Johor, Malaysia Airline System (MAS), Malaysia Airports Holding Berhad (MAHB), Air Asia Berhad, KLCC, KL Sentral, Malaysia International Shipping Corporation Berhad (MISC) and the Malaysian Maritime Academy.

5. FOREIGN SUPPORT AND COLLABORATORS

Since its establishment in 2003, SEARCCT has had numerous collaborations and support from foreign governments and agencies. In 2013, the Centre's main collaborators were New Zealand and Canada whereby each country had jointly organised three (3) training programmes with SEARCCT respectively. This was followed by France with two (2) training programmes conducted in collaboration with SEARCCT while three (3) training programmes were also co-organised with international agencies such as United Nations Counter-Terrorism Executive Directorate (CTED) and Global Centre for Counter-Terrorism Cooperation (CGCC).

6. EVALUATION OF PROGRAMMES

All participants of SEARCCT's training programmes were requested to give their comments and feedback in an Evaluation Form provided at the end of each programme. The purpose was to gauge the effectiveness of the training conducted and the logistics arrangement rendered. For the year 2013, the majority of the participants had given an average grade of five out of seven in almost all of the areas evaluated. However, the most common issue that was raised by the participants was pertaining to the short duration of the training programme. SEARCCT will endeavor to address this while taking into account its financial constraints.
